THE FOREIGN SERVICE

THE VISION

To represent America in world affairs with citizens who reflect the diversity and excellence of our society.

THE NEED

To recruit talented students in academic programs relevant to international affairs, political and economic analysis, management, and science policy.

THE GOAL

To attract outstanding students from all ethnic and social backgrounds, who have an interest in pursuing a Foreign Service career in the U.S. Department of State. The Program develops a source of trained men and women, from academic disciplines representing the skill needs of the Department, who are dedicated to representing America's interests abroad.

THE THOMAS R. PICKERING FOREIGN AFFAIRS FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM PROVIDES UNDERGRADUATE AND GRADUATE FUNDING TO PARTICIPANTS AS THEY ARE PREPARED ACADEMICALLY AND PROFESSIONALLY TO ENTER THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF STATE FOREIGN SERVICE. WOMEN, MEMBERS OF MINORITY GROUPS HISTORICALLY UNDERREPRESENTED IN THE FOREIGN SERVICE, AND STUDENTS WITH FINANCIAL NEED ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY.

ELIGIBILITY

Only United States citizens will be considered.

Applicants must be in the sophomore year of undergraduate study with a cumulative grade point average of 3.2 or higher on a 4.0 scale at the time of application.

A cumulative grade point average of 3.2 or higher must be maintained throughout participation in the program.

SELECTION

Consideration will be given to qualified applicants who, in addition to outstanding leadership skills and academic achievement, demonstrate financial need. The number of fellowships will be determined by available funding.

Finalists will be invited to an interview in Washington, D.C.

PROGRAM COMPONENTS

THE AWARD

Tuition and mandatory fees (excluding health insurance), living stipend (based on the institution's room and board rate), reimbursement for books and one round-trip between home and school are paid during the junior and senior years and during the first year of graduate study, pending availability of funding. Participating schools provide financial support in the second year of graduate study based on need.

JUNIOR YEAR SUMMER INSTITUTE

Attendance is required between the junior and senior years at one of five graduate schools of public policy and international affairs. The typical seven-week institute curriculum consists of course work in economics, calculus, and policy analysis, with exercises to develop oral and written communication skills. Institute participants include students from a number of public policy and international affairs fellowship programs.

TWO SUMMER INTERNSHIPS

Fellows receive stipends during participation in one domestic and one overseas internship with the United States Department of State.

CORE CURRICULUM

By graduation, college course work must be completed in the following or the equivalent: English Composition, Western Civilization, U.S. Political Systems, Principles of Economics, U.S. History, Modern Non-Western History, Comparative Politics, International Trade or World Finance or Economic Development, and Geography.

MENTORING

Guidance from a Foreign Service Officer is provided during the graduate degree segment of the program.

TESTING

Fellows must meet U.S. Department of State entry requirements for Foreign Service Officers.

CONTRACTUAL AGREEMENT

Each successful candidate is obligated to a minimum of four and one half years of service in an appointment as a Foreign Service Officer. Candidates who do not successfully complete the Program and meet Foreign Service entry requirements may be subject to a reimbursement obligation to the U.S. Department of State.

FOREIGN SERVICE CAREER

THE FOREIGN SERVICE is a corps of working professionals who support the President of the United States and the Secretary of the United States Department of State in pursuit of the goals and objectives of American foreign policy. Foreign Service Officers are "front-line" personnel who can be sent anywhere in the world, at any time, in service to the diplomatic needs of the United States. A career in the Foreign Service requires unusual commitment, uncommon motivation, and the ability to endure hardship while continuing to advance and defend U.S. interests.

State Department Foreign Service Officers staff U.S. embassies, consulates and missions world-wide, and also serve in Washington, D.C. Their responsibilities include policy analysis, formulation and execution; management of resources; the provision of services to Americans overseas; implementation of U.S. immigration and nationality law; trade promotion and business facilitation; public affairs; and representation of U.S. interests. Many other federal agencies, from the Agency for International Development to the Department of Veterans Affairs, are also involved in foreign affairs, but the State Department is the only agency whose sole mission is international and whose scope encompasses all aspects of U.S. foreign relations.

Success in the Foreign Service requires the capacity to accept and follow directives regardless of personal preferences and a very strong command of the English language in both written and oral communications. The Foreign Service is more than a job. It is a career which offers unique rewards, opportunities, and challenges.

GRANTS FOR TRAINING AND EDUCATION
IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

"The Secretary of State may make grants to post-secondary educational institutions or students for the purpose of increasing the level of knowledge and awareness of and interest in employment with the Foreign Service, consistent with section 105 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980. To the extent possible, the Secretary shall give special emphasis to promoting such knowledge and awareness of, and interest in employment with the Foreign Service among minority students. Any grants awarded shall be made pursuant to regulations to be established by the Secretary of State, which shall provide for a limit on the size of any specific grant and, regarding any grants to individuals, shall ensure that no grant recipient receives an amount of grants from one or more Federal programs which in the aggregate would exceed the cost of his or her education, and shall require satisfactory educational progress by grantees as a condition of eligibility for continued receipt of grant funds."
