Fall 2011

Dear McNair Scholars,

As we begin the 2011 academic year, I want to welcome you back to school. Also, please take advantage of all of the resources available on the Academic Year Handbook. Please note that all of these materials appear on our website under “Academic Year Handbook 2011-12” and we will not be producing a hard copy. The link is here:

All McNair meetings and seminars are created for your benefit. Our expectation is that you will adhere to your agreement once you became a McNair Scholar and will keep your co-curricular and class schedule free during our normal meeting times. This means that no other co-curricular events take precedence over McNair events. However, if there is an emergency in your life (legitimate illness, death in family, etc.), there will be exceptions made to the aforementioned policy.

For those of you graduating in 2011-12, you will find this link to graduate programs that offer incentives (application fee waivers, McNair Graduate Assistantships), of great interest:

Your admission to this program means we believe in each of you personally! We will do everything we can to help you be successful and achieve admission and persistence through your intended graduate programs.

Good luck as you begin and continue through fall semester.

Regards,

Matt Pearcey, Ph.D.

Director, Graduate Opportunity Program, Indiana State University
