

University Housing and Dining Services Contract 2024-2025

This document is your contract for on-campus housing and food services at Indiana State University. This is a legally binding contract, which means that the parties to the contract must comply by its terms and perform all duties and obligations stated in the contract. In this case, the parties to the contract are you (the student) and Indiana State University (the "University"). Failure to comply with the terms of a contract may result in financial charges and/or legal consequences. Therefore, it is important that you read this document, as well as the University Housing and Dining Regulations, thoroughly and carefully before signing below.

Term of Contract

This contract is binding upon you for the full academic year, which includes the Fall and Spring semesters. If you move into on-campus housing during the year, the contract will be binding for the remainder of the academic year.

Regulations of the University Housing and Dining Services Contract

The Regulations of the University Housing and Dining Services Contract (the "Regulations") contain important information and rules about University Housing and Dining Services. The Regulations are incorporated into this contract and binding on you. The Regulations, which may be amended from time to time, are available at <https://www.indstate.edu/residential-life/costs-forms>.

Meal Plan

Students living in the residence halls are required to have a meal plan. Should you select or be assigned to a residence hall and for some reason not have selected an eligible meal plan, the University will automatically add the lowest-cost eligible meal plan to your student account. Information about meal plans is available at <https://indstate.sodexomyway.com/my-meal-plan>.

Payment/Fees

I agree to pay all of the fees and charges arising under this contract (and any extension) and the Regulations when due, together with all fees and costs necessary for the collection of any amount not paid when due. Information about fees and charges is available at <https://www.indstate.edu/costs-aid/costs-undergraduate>.

Cancellation

This is a legally binding contract and you are responsible for the financial obligation of University housing and food for the full academic year. You may be released from that obligation only if you cancel enrollment with the University or if you apply for and are granted a contract release due to the extreme or unusual circumstances set out specifically in the Regulations. You should not sign this contract if you are considering other housing options. You will not be released from this contract because you have signed an off-campus lease.

Identification and Acknowledgment of Risks Relating to COVID-19

In March 2020, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and World Health Organization declared a global pandemic due to COVID-19, which is a highly infectious, potentially life-threatening disease. Contact with other people or contact with surfaces that have been exposed to the virus could lead to infection. Individuals who may be infected with COVID-19 may be asymptomatic or pre-symptomatic. Accordingly, it is very difficult to control the spread of COVID-19 or to determine whether, where, or how an individual may have been exposed to the disease. The risk of becoming exposed to or infected by COVID-19 at the University may result from your actions or inactions or those of others. By choosing to live in University housing and in close proximity to others, there is a heightened risk of becoming exposed to or infected by COVID-19. Such exposure or infection may result in severe respiratory distress, illness, hospitalization, permanent disability, and/or death. Given the unknown nature of COVID-19, it is not possible to fully list each and every risk.

Symptoms of COVID-19 and Isolation

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has identified a wide range of symptoms of COVID-19, which are regularly updated and published at <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/symptoms-testing/symptoms.html>. Some of the more common symptoms include fever, cough, and shortness of breath. You will be expected to notify a member of the University's Residential Life staff and isolate if you: (1) have tested positive for COVID-19 or (2) you are exhibiting any of the following symptoms that is not otherwise explained: a fever of 100.4 F or higher, chills, cough, shortness of breath or difficulty breathing, fatigue, muscle or body aches, headache, new loss of taste or smell, sore throat, congestion or runny nose, nausea or vomiting, or diarrhea. If you test positive for COVID-19 and are required to isolate, this cannot happen in your regular room/apartment and must be in either: (1) an approved COVID-19 space provided by Residential Life; or (2) at your permanent address for the duration of your isolation period.

Acknowledgments and Signature

I understand that by entering my University ID number and clicking the "Agree" button in the housing portal:
