History of The Gongaware Center

Don Gongaware, retired Chief Operations Officer and Executive Vice President of Conseco, Inc., is a Chartered Life Underwriter (CLU) with more than 30 years of industry experience. He was instrumental in implementing innovative management concepts and practices.

In 1998, he retired from Conseco and with wife, Pat, established a center dedicated to the development of leaders in the insurance and financial services industries at Indiana State University's Scott College of Business. At the time, their generous gift was the largest the University had received.
