

Management

Management is fundamental to any organization. Courses offered in the curriculum help students build skills in strategic management, organizational behavior, human resources management, organizational design, and entrepreneurship. Management majors take a series of courses that develop a foundation for effective management practice. A human capital management minor or an entrepreneurship minor are now required for management students.

Careers

The management major prepares students for general management careers. Graduates of the management program typically find employment in the following positions:

- Administrative Service Manager
- Chief Executive Officer
- Chief Operating Officer
- Computer Information Systems Manager
- Medical and Health Services Manager
- Property and Real Estate Manager

A degree in management can also prepare students for careers in:

- Government Business
- Consulting
- Small Business Development
- Entrepreneurship Ventures
- Domestic and Global Business Relations

The Scott College of Business capstone class allows students to gain insight on a companies local to the Terre Haute community. Students are able to analyze various factors within the company's structure. The students work in teams to develop real world solutions and recommendations for the company they work with.

Student Involvement

Management majors are encouraged to become active and accept leadership roles in a variety of professionally related student organizations that give you an opportunity to meet practicing managers, participate in actual management programs and projects, and sharpen management skills learned in class.

Scholarships

There are several scholarships and financial awards designed specifically for management majors and other scholarships available only to Scott College of Business majors and minors. For more information go to www.indstate.edu/business/scholarships.

Curriculum

The management major is a four-year program that leads to a bachelor of science degree. Students in the major complete a comprehensive base of liberal studies and business courses. Required courses prepare you with fundamental skills in strategic management, people management, leadership, business ethics and corporate social responsibility, as well as organizational design. Additional opportunities are available to study small business management and international business management.

Alumni Spotlight

Randy Minas, '75, senior vice president at City Securities Corp. in Crown Point, has contributed much to the Scott College of Business. In 2007, the Minas Center for Investment and Financial Education became a reality. That gift helps support the operations of the financial trading room, among other key activities. Randy was named an ISU Distinguished Alumni Award recipient in 2008, the same year he was named to the ISU Board of Trustees. Daughter, Dawn, graduated from ISU in 2003, and son, Randy received an MBA in 2010.

Benjamin Lenderman, '03, works for Eli Lilly and Company as a senior sales specialist. He attended graduate school at Stanford University to obtain his MBA. At ISU he graduated with a 4.0 GPA and with degrees in management, finance and business administration. In 2008, he was honored with ISU's GOLD (Graduates of the Last Decade) Award and joined the Scott College of Business' inaugural Young Professionals Board.

Daniel Pigg, '01, a partner at Howard Clare Insurance in Terre Haute, has been very involved with his alma mater since graduation.

He serves on the Scott College of Business' Insurance Advisory Council, the Young Professionals Board, and volunteers his time with the student chapter of Gamma Iota Sigma (professional fraternity).
