

Jessica R. Singleton

Instructor of English
Root Hall A281
Indiana State University
Terre Haute, IN 47809
Jessica.Singleton@indstate.edu

Education

M.A., English – concentration in English and American Literature, Indiana State Univ., 2012

B.S., English Education – with a minor in History, Univ. of Evansville, 2009 (summa cum laude)

Teaching Licenses

Professional Educator's License – State of Indiana. Certification in Language Arts and Historical Perspectives.

Teaching Experience

Washington Middle School, Evansville, IN, Fall 2008 – Internship

Bosse High School, Evansville, IN, Spring 2009 – Internship

Central High School, Evansville, IN, Fall 2009 – Student teaching

Indiana State University, Terre Haute, IN, Fall 2010 to Spring 2012 – Teaching assistant

Indiana State University, Terre Haute, IN, Fall 2012 to Present – English instructor

Courses Taught

English 101: Freshman Writing I

English 105: Freshman Writing II

English 107: Rhetoric and Writing

Presentations

“Writing Across the Curriculum.” Foundational Studies Certificate Program Seminar.
Indiana State University, 2011 – Seminar Co-Creator and Co-Presenter

“Educating Anne Elliott: The Pursuit of Individual Autonomy in Persuasion.” Midwestern American Society of Eighteenth-Century Studies. Indiana State University, 2011.

Service

Writing Program Assessment, Fall 2012 – Participant
First-Year Teaching Assistant Mentorship Program, Fall 2011 and Fall 2012 – Mentor
Writing Program Assessment, Spring 2013 – Participant

Awards and Honors

Residential Life First Year Initiative Outstanding Faculty Member – Indiana State University 2012
Recognized by the Vice President for Student Success and the Dean of the University College for Aiding Freshmen Students in Achieving their Educational Goals – Indiana
State University 2013