

Indiana State University

GERONTOLOGY CERTIFICATE OR MINOR

Important Facts:

- Courses are offered online every fall and spring
- Classes include general psychology; Health and Aging; Death, Dying, and Quality of life; and more!

What to expect from the program

- This program is designed for students or professionals who interact with older adults in a professional, community, or personal capacity
- The courses provide knowledge, experiential learning and reflection to enhance success in careers with older adults

Additional Information

- A certificate can be offered to non-degree students who wish to take these courses for credit but do not intend to pursue an Indiana State University degree
- A minor or certificate can be offered to any student pursuing an Indiana State University degree

For More Information, contact Dr. Whitney Nesser at whitney.nesser@indstate.edu