

Dear Colleagues,

As you are aware, several units within the university are being reorganized. Most of this reorganization is being done in order to enhance our abilities to reach strategic goals, such as our enrollment and financial targets. Other shifts are taking place in order to better-situate units to take advantage of improved collaboration and communication. All changes identified below will be effective July 1, 2018.

In addition to the already-announced move of Enrollment Management and Marketing to Academic Affairs, the following cross-divisional shifts are taking place:

- Residence Life will move from Academic Affairs to Student Affairs, with the custodial and maintenance functions moving to Finance and Administration.
- Dining operations, Catering, and Concessions (Sodexo) will move from Finance and Administration to Student Affairs
- University Communications (previously part of Marketing and Communications) will report to the President's Office
- Institutional Research will report to the Provost
- The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute will report to University Engagement
- The Alumni Engagement Office will move to the University Advancement Division (formerly the Division of Development)

Within Academic Affairs, the following moves are taking place:

- The Center for Student Research and Creativity will move to the Honors College
- The Office of Sponsored Programs will report to AVP Mark Green
- The Center for Global Engagement will formally report to the Provost, which it has functionally been doing for the past two years
- Extended Learning will report to the new Vice Provost for Enrollment Management

I look forward to working with the vice presidents to implement these changes and work toward advancing our strategic goals.

Sincerely,

Deborah J. Curtis, Ph.D.
President
