Coronavirus (COVID-19) update

Indiana State University is working hard to prepare for all scenarios related to the coronavirus (covid-19). We are in coordination with the Indiana State Department of Health and the Vigo County Health Department. Decisions will continue to follow guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and other health agencies.

With no cases on campus or in Vigo County, university operations will continue while emphasizing preventative measures from the CDC and communicating frequently with campus. The official university webpage on covid-19 will have all of the latest information: indstate.edu/covid-19.
