The Division of University Engagement is off to a great start in 2017. The Division celebrated the new year by hosting an Inaugural Luncheon on January 12 for the inauguration of Dr. Flori. Dr. Flori was introduced to Indiana State alumni for our annual 91 Club Luncheon. Student leaders outlined plans for the Spring semester, including the Sycamores United trip to Washington D.C. in March. The trip was sponsored by the American Democracy Project. Students from different organizations had the opportunity to learn about American democracy during a lunchtime reception and experience the legislative session in the House and Senate. They were also given a tour of the Statehouse before heading back to campus.

HALLOWEEN CANDY GIVEAWAY

Every Wednesday, I talk to campus employees about questions related to social media. One of the most common questions is about notoriety. Social media has a way of amplifying things, even if they are not always positive. The best way to overcome a negative social media post is to engage in a conversation. Invite your audience to participate in a dialogue. If you are a fan of social media, you should consider creating a social media policy. It will not only help you deal with negative comments, but it will also help your audience understand what is expected.

The Division of University Engagement is off to a great start in 2017. The Division celebrated the new year by hosting an Inaugural Luncheon on January 12 for the inauguration of Dr. Flori. Dr. Flori was introduced to Indiana State alumni for our annual 91 Club Luncheon. Student leaders outlined plans for the Spring semester, including the Sycamores United trip to Washington D.C. in March. The trip was sponsored by the American Democracy Project. Students from different organizations had the opportunity to learn about American democracy during a lunchtime reception and experience the legislative session in the House and Senate. They were also given a tour of the Statehouse before heading back to campus.

HALLOWEEN CANDY GIVEAWAY

Every Wednesday, I talk to campus employees about questions related to social media. One of the most common questions is about notoriety. Social media has a way of amplifying things, even if they are not always positive. The best way to overcome a negative social media post is to engage in a conversation. Invite your audience to participate in a dialogue. If you are a fan of social media, you should consider creating a social media policy. It will not only help you deal with negative comments, but it will also help your audience understand what is expected.

The Division of University Engagement is off to a great start in 2017. The Division celebrated the new year by hosting an Inaugural Luncheon on January 12 for the inauguration of Dr. Flori. Dr. Flori was introduced to Indiana State alumni for our annual 91 Club Luncheon. Student leaders outlined plans for the Spring semester, including the Sycamores United trip to Washington D.C. in March. The trip was sponsored by the American Democracy Project. Students from different organizations had the opportunity to learn about American democracy during a lunchtime reception and experience the legislative session in the House and Senate. They were also given a tour of the Statehouse before heading back to campus.

HALLOWEEN CANDY GIVEAWAY

Every Wednesday, I talk to campus employees about questions related to social media. One of the most common questions is about notoriety. Social media has a way of amplifying things, even if they are not always positive. The best way to overcome a negative social media post is to engage in a conversation. Invite your audience to participate in a dialogue. If you are a fan of social media, you should consider creating a social media policy. It will not only help you deal with negative comments, but it will also help your audience understand what is expected.

The Division of University Engagement is off to a great start in 2017. The Division celebrated the new year by hosting an Inaugural Luncheon on January 12 for the inauguration of Dr. Flori. Dr. Flori was introduced to Indiana State alumni for our annual 91 Club Luncheon. Student leaders outlined plans for the Spring semester, including the Sycamores United trip to Washington D.C. in March. The trip was sponsored by the American Democracy Project. Students from different organizations had the opportunity to learn about American democracy during a lunchtime reception and experience the legislative session in the House and Senate. They were also given a tour of the Statehouse before heading back to campus.

HALLOWEEN CANDY GIVEAWAY

Every Wednesday, I talk to campus employees about questions related to social media. One of the most common questions is about notoriety. Social media has a way of amplifying things, even if they are not always positive. The best way to overcome a negative social media post is to engage in a conversation. Invite your audience to participate in a dialogue. If you are a fan of social media, you should consider creating a social media policy. It will not only help you deal with negative comments, but it will also help your audience understand what is expected.

The Division of University Engagement is off to a great start in 2017. The Division celebrated the new year by hosting an Inaugural Luncheon on January 12 for the inauguration of Dr. Flori. Dr. Flori was introduced to Indiana State alumni for our annual 91 Club Luncheon. Student leaders outlined plans for the Spring semester, including the Sycamores United trip to Washington D.C. in March. The trip was sponsored by the American Democracy Project. Students from different organizations had the opportunity to learn about American democracy during a lunchtime reception and experience the legislative session in the House and Senate. They were also given a tour of the Statehouse before heading back to campus.

HALLOWEEN CANDY GIVEAWAY

Every Wednesday, I talk to campus employees about questions related to social media. One of the most common questions is about notoriety. Social media has a way of amplifying things, even if they are not always positive. The best way to overcome a negative social media post is to engage in a conversation. Invite your audience to participate in a dialogue. If you are a fan of social media, you should consider creating a social media policy. It will not only help you deal with negative comments, but it will also help your audience understand what is expected.

The Division of University Engagement is off to a great start in 2017. The Division celebrated the new year by hosting an Inaugural Luncheon on January 12 for the inauguration of Dr. Flori. Dr. Flori was introduced to Indiana State alumni for our annual 91 Club Luncheon. Student leaders outlined plans for the Spring semester, including the Sycamores United trip to Washington D.C. in March. The trip was sponsored by the American Democracy Project. Students from different organizations had the opportunity to learn about American democracy during a lunchtime reception and experience the legislative session in the House and Senate. They were also given a tour of the Statehouse before heading back to campus.

HALLOWEEN CANDY GIVEAWAY

Every Wednesday, I talk to campus employees about questions related to social media. One of the most common questions is about notoriety. Social media has a way of amplifying things, even if they are not always positive. The best way to overcome a negative social media post is to engage in a conversation. Invite your audience to participate in a dialogue. If you are a fan of social media, you should consider creating a social media policy. It will not only help you deal with negative comments, but it will also help your audience understand what is expected.
In 1984, Mary Lou Retton became America's first Olympic gold medalist in gymnastics. She now travels as a motivational speaker, a corporate spokesperson, and a "fitness ambassador." Free admission.

Driving Miss Daisy—March 7th, 7:30PM, Tilson Auditorium—Performing Arts Series

This winner of the 1988 Pulitzer Prize and the Outer Critics Circle Award for Best Off-Broadway Play, features Alfred Uhry's Pulitzer Prize-winning play that has been performed in 31 countries worldwide. Tickets for the public are available through the Hulman Center Ticket Office.

This semester, the CSA is at Meadows Elementary and Sarah Scott Middle, both Title I Schools. All programs enable students to develop creative and critical problem-solving skills and promote higher self-esteem. In 1984, Mary Lou Retton became America's first Olympic gold medalist in gymnastics. She now travels as a motivational speaker, a corporate spokesperson, and a "fitness ambassador." Free admission.

Combining visual art and literacy, the program offers connected arts and literacy experiences. Through use of field trips, student discussion, and class journals, students are provided with the opportunity to explore, question, and reflect on their own cultural and historical perspectives.

Revolutionary Homeschooling: The New, Modern, and Unorthodox Approach to Education

Photo 2: Shayla Bozdech, Michael Sheppard, Abigail Walker sightseeing in Washington, DC.

In 1984, Mary Lou Retton became America's first Olympic gold medalist in gymnastics. She now travels as a motivational speaker, a corporate spokesperson, and a "fitness ambassador." Free admission.

Performing Arts Series:
http://hulmancenter.org/performing-arts-series/