

Explorer's Aviation Post 001 Open House

Have you thought about a career in aviation? If so Indiana State University's Flight Academy is hosting an Exploring Post for high school students. Exploring is a Learning for Life Program that allows students to explore their career interests. Our post will explore various aspects of the aviation industry including piloting, air traffic control, airport operation, aircraft maintenance, unmanned systems, and many more!

Come join us for our open house and a short meeting afterwards at the ISU Flight Academy to see what we are all about! The open house will start at 6 p.m. (EST) on February 23, 2016.
